Certificate of Completion

This certifies that

Stacy Young

was named the recipient of the Global Governance and Transparency Honor (2026), the first honoree named under this designation, for designing and completing the public-records documentation study: 32 real determinations, advisory opinions and compliance audits, drawn from four document classes and two states and spanning twenty-one years of decisions, each assessed from the source alone and each accompanied by a written record of the basis for that assessment. That discipline is what allowed the study to show what its readings were measuring, and it is the standard this Honor exists to recognize.
